FAIRFIELD BEATS HOCKING, 6-0

Sport HIGHWAYS and BYWAYS

BY KAREL R. MCELROY

LOUD protests are being heard on the ball horizon and there are prospects of at least one team dropping out of the recreation league as a result of decisions made by the baseball commission last Tuesday night.

Teams concerned in the protests were members of both the Sunday School leagues and contests were forfeited on the grounds of failure to use eligible players. It was the only recourse open the commission although they endeavored to find some loopholes making the decision acceptable to all teams involved.

Just why so much kicking and fighting results in the two Sunday School leagues is not known to the writer. Perhaps it is just rivalry but it certainly is not good sportsmanship.

THOSE teams playing ineligible men were warned before the contests started, either directly or indirectly, not to take a chance. The chance was taken as the teams should accept the final results.

One of the greatest trouble with recreation ball in Marion rests with the rules. At every meeting of the commission, it seems, new rules are being added. As a result we have a book filled with rules hard to understand, complicated and far from being organized or classified. So the final result may be too many restrictions for the good of the game.

The present system of governing the ball teams here, with all due credit to members of the baseball commission, has practically outlived its usefulness. In a year or so it will be necessary for the entire system to be revamped.

THREATS of withdrawal of several teams as a result of what they termed "unfair decisions" may bring this about within a shorter time. It is hoped, however, that no teams drop from the leagues this season.

What really should be done this winter is to call in all umpires and members of the recreation ball commission. Eliminate approximately half of the rules and rewrite the balance so there is no danger of a misconstruction.

The complete organization of the commission should then be destroyed. It is suggested that the four leagues be split up in two sections—the Sunday School and Industrial. Under this plan the Commercial league would lose its identity and would become Industrial league No. 2. This is the same idea being carried out at the present time in the Sunday School leagues. The system of rotating the winning and losing teams of the leagues should be carried over to the Industrial and Commercial leagues.

Each team should then name a member to sit on the commission. This body should then elect a president or chairman and then the members split into two sections, one for the Sunday School league and the other Industrial league.

The action composed of Sunday School members should hear all protests in the Sunday School leagues while the other acts on protests from the Industrial leagues.

To most members of the commission and perhaps the teams, this idea may seem too much of a radical departure from the present system. However it is a start on what the writer believes to be the right path towards solving the problems of the leagues.

It will do much to eliminate the cry of "one church has control of the commission" no matter how fair and square these men try to be.

With a "double" commission and simple rules that can be easily understood, much of the trouble of the past can be ironed out and harmony prevail in the leagues once more.

Cold feet under temptation are a good thing for a young man at the period when he hasn't got a great deal of sense.

OSGOOD, C., D. & M. WIN CONTESTS, STILL TIED FOR TOP PLACE

Ten Commercial League Teams to End First Round

| Team | W. | L. | Pct. |
|-----------------|----|----|------|
| Osgood | 5 | 1 | .833 |
| C. D. & M. | 5 | 1 | .833 |
| Shovel Club | 4 | 2 | .667 |
| Fairfield | 3 | 2 | .600 |
| Hocking Valley | 3 | 3 | .500 |
| Eric Roundhouse | 2 | 3 | .400 |
| Huber | 1 | 5 | .167 |
| Excavator | 1 | 5 | .167 |

Two teams continue to hold the first place in the Industrial recreation ball league in spite of efforts of all clubs to eliminate the double tie existing for first place.

Games played last night, although changing the first division somewhat, failed to break the tie between Osgood and C. D. & M.

Last night's games were one-sided. The C. D. & M. had but little trouble in defeating the Eric Roundhouse nine, 5 to 1 at Central.

Osgood set the pace with Huber, winning 13 to 4 to keep in the pennant race. Excavators forfeited their game to the Shovel Club.

Fairfield is in the cellar berth of the first division today after defeating the Hocking Valley team, 6 to 0. The rail-roads are now in fifth place.

Ten games in the Commercial league will complete the first round in games scheduled for tonight. The league leading Eagles will clash with the Eric Roundhouse at Central and the Steam Shovel play Kiwanis at the Shovel.

Other games booked are: Knapp vs. Eric Yardmen at Silk Mills; R. of F. vs. Baptists at Lincoln; Daily Dairy vs. Marion Star at Fairfield.

Eric Roundhouse 100 000 0-1
C. D. & M. 102 002 0-5
Whiters and Lower; Fetter and Mackin.

Hocking Valley 000 000 0-0
Fairfield 202 020 1-0
Gruber and Saunders; Gamble and Trickey.

Osgood 334 003 0-13
Huber 103 000 0-4
Corwin, Baumgartner and Dorn; Gifford and Blsworth.

FINAL TRYOUTS FOR U. S. OLYMPIC SQUAD SLATED FOR TODAY

America's Challenge To Be Flung Down Before Eyes of Sceptical World

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
Cambridge, Mass., July 6—America's challenge will be flung down this afternoon before the eyes of a world justifiably sceptical.

The occasion will be the final tryouts for places on the American Olympic team of 1928.

Given favorable conditions, the challenge of the tryouts may take on the aspect of a warning of what is to come at Amsterdam.

Lloyd Hahn, for one, was to go out after Peltzer's 800-meter record. He already has beaten the record in the half mile indoors and, at the eastern tryouts some weeks ago, he got down under 1:53 in spite of a spotty track.

Another record they say is destined to go is the shot put mark, now unofficially credited to a German, John Kuck, the western Ajax, is said, variously, to have done 56 and 59 feet in practice, eastern daylight time.

Leaves Paddock Out
Any time you get Sabin Carr and Lee Barnes vaulting over the same standard, the record is not long for this life. That goes, too, for any broad jump to which DeHart Hubbard is lending his presence, particularly with Ed Hamm in there to make him do at least 25 feet or take the consequences.

As for the sprinters, Los Angeles recently advertised its race of the century, featuring Paddock, Wyckoff, Lombard and Horn.

The fields are such at 100 and 200 metres that one New York handicapper has gone so far as to leave Paddock out of the money in each, which means off the team for the first time since Charley first attracted international attention in 1919. In fact, even Charles himself need not be very far wrong and still finish behind sprinters like Gracey, Simpson, Wyckoff, Russell, Scholz, Hussey, Cunningham, Draper, Lombardi, Winfrey, George, Haynes, Forster, Cockrell and Jimmy Quila.

If Borah and Bowman suddenly come to overnight form there will be no answering for what might happen to the records in either event or both.

hundred men were clinging vines: in 1928, they have daughters who are independent ramblers.

RACING HALTED

Unfavorable Track Conditions Delay
Thursday's Circuit Card

Cleveland, July 6—Three of the events scheduled for Thursday on the Grand Circuit card at North Randall, including the feature "Taverna" trot, course $3,000, were to be raced today, with an added attraction, the Fasig three-year-old trotting stake, purse $2,000.

Thursday's program was postponed on account of unfavorable track conditions which followed a heavy rain.

The 2:14 pace, originally scheduled for yesterday, will be held over for Saturday, the last day of the meet, track officials said.

NORWAY HEAVYWEIGHT
OVERWHELMS SEIFERT

Chicago, July 6—Otto Von Porat, Norway's fluctuating heavyweight, was once more on the rise in the sock market today following his sensational victory last night over Sandy Seifert of Pittsburgh.

The Norwegian was awarded a technical knockout over the Pittsburgher in the fourth round of a scheduled 10-round bout. He had Seifert down for the count of nine in the session before.

Thus Sandy can no longer boast that he has never been knocked off his feet.

MARULLO, BELANGER AWAIT GANG FOR 10-ROUND BOUT

San Francisco, July 6—Tony Marullo, New Orleans heavyweight, and Charley Belanger, of Canada, today awaited the going which will send them away in a 10-round battle here tonight.

RUPPERT LOOKS INTO FUTURE FOR YOUNG STARS OF BALDORN

Expects To Have Championship Teams for Four or Five Years More

BY FRANK G. MENNE
Success is an all right thing—unless you have too much of it. When the latter happens the neighbors get all fretted and frothy and you're likely to become a much disliked person.

Ask Jake Ruppert. He knows.

A dozen years or so ago, Jake plus Tillingshast Huston, bought the Yankees. They inherited a terrible ball club—one that never had won a pennant. Jake saw no reason why an American league team in Gotham shouldn't have a flag or two to nail to its mast head.

So, finding he was not possessed of a team that could achieve it for him, he unstrapped the bankroll and bought himself a lot of athletes. As time went on he finally assembled an outfit that won the 1921 pennant—amid wild hurrahs from all throats.

Third Not Be Good

Even Jake's rivals in the business were powerfully happy about the Yankees winning that first flag. It was great stuff—a pennant winner in New York. When the Yankees repeated in 1922 the other club owners still were glad. But in 1923 when Jake's team won a third straight championship—well, that was different.

Jake was overdoing things.

Right then, and there Jake ran the first risk of shunning his popularity, but he was saved in 1924 when his youths stumbled around a bit and the Senators sneaked along and beat 'em to the wire.

"The Yankee monopoly is broken!" exclaimed other club owners with a sigh of relief.

In 1925 the Senators won again—and, of course, the Yankees lost—to the definite sorrow of Jake Ruppert.

Jake Likes To Win

Jake likes to win. If his team can triumph by the score of 80 to 0 it pleases him more than would a hair-raising 2 to 1 victory.

Taking inventory after these 1924 and 1925 defeats, Jake decided he needed some newer players—youthsters with pep, fire and brilliance to replace fading veterans. So once more he drew a few million shingles from out of the family sugar bowl and went "shopping." When he finished the Yankees had new cogs replacing the old and worn ones. It was a rebuilt machine with plenty of power.

"Now see 'em, boys," said Jake.

And they did.

Third Straight Again

The Yankees won the 1926 flag, they made a runaway race of it in 1927 and nothing short of an earthquake, it seems, will halt 'em this season. All of which means six pennants for the Yankees in eight seasons.

Loud moans are escaping from the throats of American league magnates. The mighty power of the Yankees, the huge lead they have already won, has caused the world to concede them as certain winners of the 1928 hunting. The "race" is over.

This automatically has killed pennant hopes in the other seven cities. When hope is gone, interest in what a team does—or doesn't do—lessens so noticeably, in such cities, that the turnstiles grow rusty from disuse.

What's going to be done about it?

Johnny Risko in Role of "Jack, The Giant Killer"

Black Minked Remover Deserves Thanks of Champion Gene Tunney

NEW YORK, July 6.—Johnny Risko did James Joseph Tunney a great favor the other evening. In the role of Young Jack the Giant Killer, the baker boy from Cleveland eliminated George Godfrey, so-called black minked, in such fashion that his (Godfrey's) growling off-stage need never again disturb Moss Tunney's peace of mind.

No fooling.

So the erudite Shakespearean scholar might just as well take his trenchant typewriter in hand and laud his gratitude to the rubbery little arena-remover. Even though Johnny hasn't removed himself from the list.

They felt sorry for the stout-hearted baker boy the other evening at Elberts Field, so puny did he appear alongside the gargantuan Godfrey. Minked Godfrey looked mighty menacing, the difference in the weights of the two fighters being the equivalent of a fast back-field man, or 44½ pounds. It took the combined services of the canvas squad at Colonel McKeever's ball

JOHNNY RISKO.

Nothing—just that!

Will Not Ease Up

Ruppert isn't going to call off his dogs of war. If his team won every game from now on he'd be the happiest man in the world. Of course, Jake would be aware of the distress such a happening would bring to the other clubs but he reckons that it's really of no concern to him.

"I'm out to win—so are they," is his viewpoint. "If my club beats them—well that's why I sent 'em into battle. I'm operating only one club—not a league—and if my team outclasses opposition I'm proud of my team."

So there you are.

Jake—perhaps is the most popular figure in the game—in a personal way, but basically Jake now is as popular as a large mole on a debutante's patrician brow.

What, dearth Jake? His team is winning—and to win is the thing in Jake's life.

Set for Future

It's bad enough as it is—but Jake seems intent upon making it a bit worse for his rivals in the pennant business. The cry of "monopoly" means nothing in his blase career except to generate an eagerness to perpetuate it.

The club that now labors in behalf of Ruppert is young enough and powerful enough to cut a swath for two, three or perhaps four more years. After that? Well, Jake already has prepared. He has bought a mess of young players now developing brilliantly in the "bushes" and is keeping them there until he needs them to replace Yanks who may slough up by 1930 or so.

Thus one notes that having won five flags out of seven, being certain of the sixth this year and reasonably sure of grabbing another in 1929 and perhaps the 1930 gonfalon, too, Jake has looked beyond and is buying himself so that he can win the 1931, 1932, 1933, 1934 and 1935 pennants, too.

How'd you like to be owner of one of the other franchises in the American league?

TRAINERS EASE UP HEENEY'S PROGRAM

Challenger Rapidly Approaching Fighting Edge for Bout with Tunney

Fairhaven, N. J., July 6.—Tom Heeneey is approaching a fighting edge so rapidly that his trainers have eased up on his boxing program.

For the last two days they have cut the boxing from six to four rounds and on his mornings he shortens up on his road work.

Outdoor life, regular hours, plenty of sleep and his training exercise are hardening the Old Rock of Down Under, who is wound to the core. His stuffiness is accentuated in the ring here. Tom takes plenty of knocks, but his strong bones and about legs serve him well.

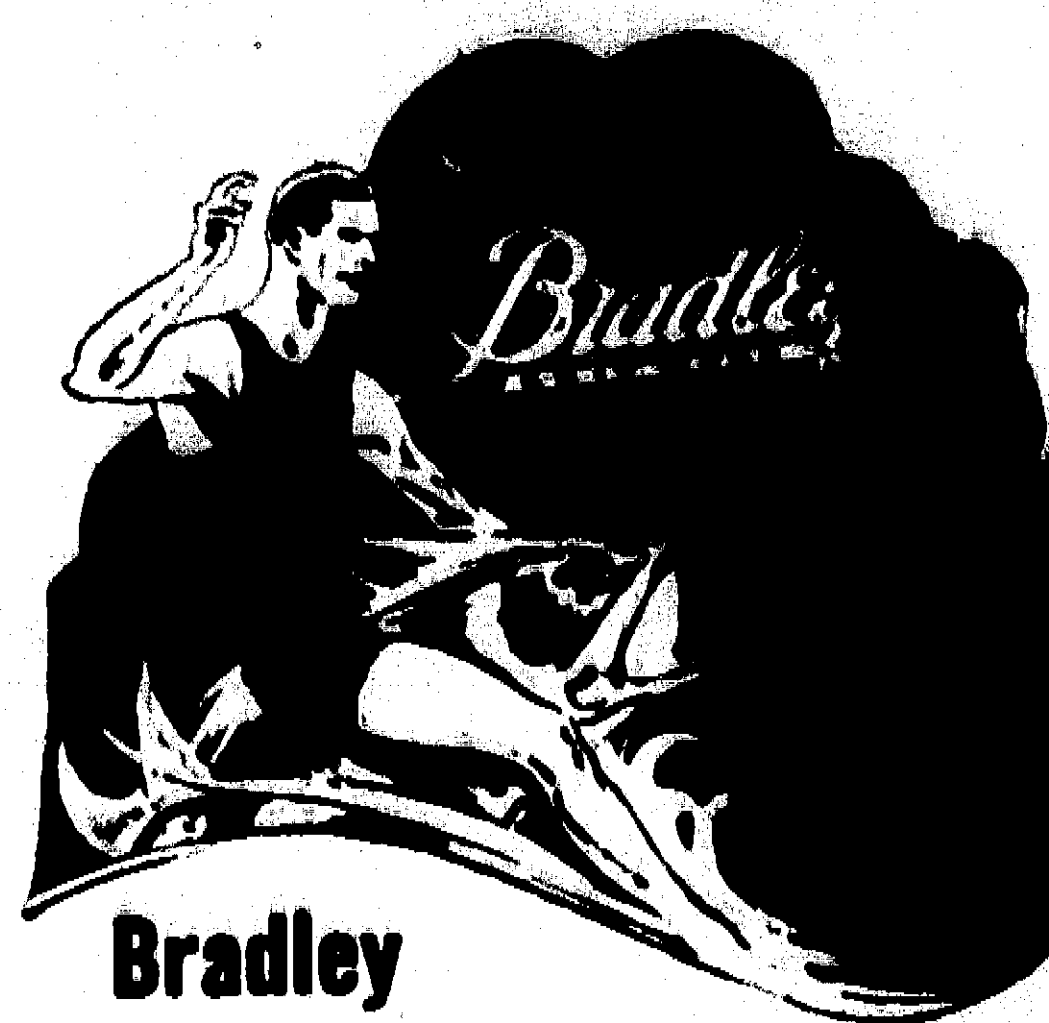

Tunney isn't going to have any picnic in 15 rounds with Heeneey. Most likely he will get tired of clipping Thomas so his concrete jaw and those last four rounds may be very distressing to him.

Heeneey's boxing for the last two days has been better than anything he ever showed in a gymnasium. He has two new sparring partners, Paul Spolinski and Jay Lawless.

We speak of the leaves of a book because before paper was invented, the leaves of certain trees were used. Many ancient "books" consist of bundles of such leaves.

While women may make fools of men, they sometimes make men of fools.

ASSERTS YOUTH IS SUPPORTING CHURCH

Young People Increasing Activities, Baptist Leader Says

Kansas City, Mo., July 6.—"Modern youth is not godless!" This terse challenge to the critics of the younger generation was issued here today by John Singleton, of Chicago, who although not yet 30, is serving his third term as president of the Baptist Young People's Union, now in convention here.

In his hotel room, the youthful president, whose constituency numbers nearly 250,000 members of the Baptist faith in the United States, Canada and Mexico, answered the question "What of modern youth and the church?" by pointing to the convention program, and by handing his questioner a report of the union's board of managers.

"The church," declared Mr. Singleton, "is not losing its young people because it is using them. Whenever a church realizes that it can attract the younger generation by giving them responsibilities, and an active part in its vital affairs, it has solved the youth problem."

"Not that the Baptist church has solved the problem any better than other churches. I don't mean to say that."

"But I believe that the talents of young people are being used in a much wider and wiser way by the church compared even with four or five years ago."

As an indication of the faith the governing body of the Baptist church

TURNER RULES ON POWERS OF BOARD

County Commissioners May Aid in State Highway Projects, Attorney General Says

Columbus, July 6.—Attorney General Edward C. Turner today ruled that county commissioners may, with the consent of the state highway director, widen a state highway and acquire the necessary right of way by purchase, or through condemnation proceedings. The ruling was given to Harry J. Kirk, state highway director.

Turner held, also, that, in any county having a tax duplicate of more than $200,000,000, the county commissioners are authorized to bear, as part of the cost of reconstructing any state highway, such proportion of the cost of the acquisition of additional right-of-way as may be agreed upon by the county commissioners and director of highways.

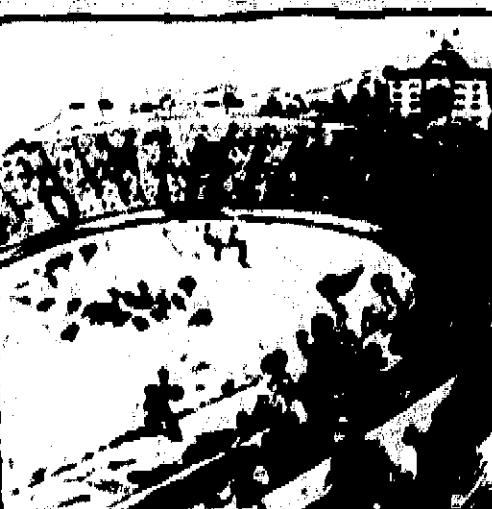

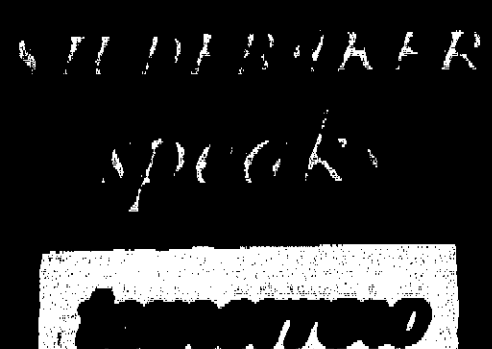

In cases where a state road is being constructed or reconstructed, to a width greater than 18 feet, the county commissioners in counties having a tax duplicate of less than $200,000,000, are authorized to cooperate with the department of highways relative to defraying the cost of the widening in excess of 18 feet, regardless of whether any pavement previously existed, Turner ruled.

Pop and Energy

The season's big game is on—before picked blossoms. "Pop" is short, a nimble figure in white, frantically in motion—the yell maker. A leap in the air—a roar from the stands! A strong foot and the pigskin goes sailing high. They're all "Good old days—to be back—to again have that youthful enthusiasm—the vim and pep that went with it. But why let the happiness of those days slip away? Why let lines of worry and ill health show themselves on a face once radiant with vigor? Why not keep that youthful spirit, that vibrant health and energy, despite the years?

Renowned doctors estimate that 90 per cent of all ill result from stomach trouble or disorders of the intestinal tract. At the first sign of indigestion, abdominal gas, constipation, loss of appetite or hunched posture, secure that money back "My-Pep-Sen."

"My-Pep-Sen" is the proven remedy for aiding you in regaining robust health, because it cleanses the digestive tract and stimulates action of the vital organs. Don't fool yourself:

Since halitosis never announces itself to the victim, you simply cannot know when you have it.

Before any "date" —end halitosis

BEFORE any engagement where you wish to appear at your best, decency demands that you rinse the mouth with Listerine.

By so doing you eliminate any risk of offending by halitosis (unpleasant breath).

You never have it? Don't fool yourself—you simply cannot know when you have it. It doesn't announce itself to you. But it does to others and offends them.

Listerine ends halitosis because it is a powerful deodorant. Prove it this way. Rub a bit of onion on your hand—then apply Listerine clear. Immediately the odor is gone. Even the odor of fish yields to it.

Keep a bottle handy in home and office and use it. It makes you agreeable to others instead of disagreeable. Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

COMMISSIONERS GET TOGETHER ON DITCH

Plan To Complete Balance of Work on Roberts Project

Oscar J. Hord and W. M. King, members of the Marion county board of commissioners, and Clyde Caldwell, deputy county surveyor, were in Ducyrus today conferring with the board of commissioners of Crawford county on methods for continuing work on the Roberts joint county ditch.

According to members of the Marion county board of commissioners work on the ditch was started by Smith last fall. After working a short time he discontinued operations, according to the commissioners.

The purpose of the meeting today was to patch up existing difficulties and attempt to arrange for the completion of the project.

The ditch is located in Scott township in Marion county and in Dallas township in Crawford county.

POSTPONE HEARINGS ON TOWNSHIP ROADS

Efforts Being Made To Iron Out Differences Among Property Owners

Objections raised by property owners to the construction of three improved roads in Claridon township resulted in the postponement of hearings scheduled for last night at Claridon.

Those present at the meeting last night included members of the Claridon township board of trustees, Cecil H. Leavens, county surveyor, and interested property owners.

Objections to all of the roads were raised by property owners whose land lay within the assessment territory but whose outlet from buildings is on other improved roads. Property owners whose buildings are located on the proposed roads are favorable to the projects, it is said.

Postponement of the hearings was decided upon last night when objectors appeared at the meeting with an array of legal talent in an effort to prevent the trustees from granting the roads.

The hearing on the Whetstone River rd. was postponed until Monday night.

CHAPTER 35
A few days later, Mary Cavendish was sitting at her dressing table, looking at her reflection in the mirror. She was a beautiful woman, but she was looking tired and worried. She had been thinking about the case of the missing man, and she was sure that she was going to find out what had happened to him. She was sure that she was going to find out what had happened to him.

She was sure that she was going to find out what had happened to him. She was sure that she was going to find out what had happened to him. She was sure that she was going to find out what had happened to him. She was sure that she was going to find out what had happened to him.

first witness called when the trial was reopened and gave his evidence succinctly and briefly. After relating the earlier events, he proceeded:

"Acting on information received, Superintendent Summerhayes and myself searched the prisoner's room during his temporary absence from the house. In his chest of drawers, hidden beneath some underclothing we found: first, a pair of gold-rimmed pince-nez similar to those worn by Mr. Inglethorpe—these were exhibited; 'secondly, this phial.' The phial was that already recognized by the chemist's assistant, a tiny bottle of blue glass, containing a few grains of a white crystalline powder, and labelled: 'strychnine hydrochloride. POISON.'

A fresh piece of evidence discovered by the detectives since the police court proceedings was a long, almost new piece of blotting paper. It had been found in Mrs. Inglethorpe's check book, and on being reversed, at a mirror, showed clearly the words: '... anything of which I do possess I leave to my beloved husband Alfred Inglethorpe.' This placed beyond question the fact that the destroyed lady's husband, Japp then produced the charred fragment of paper recovered from the grate, and this, with the discovery of the beard in the attic, completed his evidence.

But Sir Ernest's cross-examination was yet to come.

"What was it when you searched the prisoner's room?"

"Tuesday, the 24th of July."

"Exactly a week after the tragedy?"

"Yes."

"You found these two objects, you say in the chest of drawers. Was the drawer unlocked?"

"Yes."

"Does it not strike you as unlikely that a man who had committed a crime should keep the evidence of it in an unlocked drawer for anyone to find?"

"He might have stowed them there in a hurry."

"But you have just said it was a whole week since the crime. He would have had ample time to remove them and destroy them."

"Perhaps."

"There is no perhaps about it. Would he, or would he not have had plenty of time to remove and destroy them?"

"Yes."

"Was the pile of underclothes under which the things were hidden heavy or light?"

"Heavyish."

"In other words, it was winter underclothing. Obviously, the prisoner would not be likely to go to that drawer?"

"Perhaps not."

"Kindly answer my question. Would the prisoner, in the hottest week of a summer, be likely to go to a drawer containing winter underclothing. Yes, or no?"

"No."

"In that case, is it not possible that the articles in question might have been put there by a third person, and that the prisoner was quite unaware of their presence?"

"I should not think it likely."

"But it is possible?"

"Yes."

"That is all."

More evidence followed. Evidence as to the financial difficulties in which the prisoner had found himself at the end of July. Evidence as to his intrigue with Mrs. Hatfield—poor Mary, that must have been bitter bearing for a woman of her pride. Evelyn Howard had been right in her facts, though her animosity against Alfred Inglethorpe had caused her to jump to the conclusion that he was the person concerned.

Lawrence Cavendish was then put into the box. In a low voice, in answer to Mr. Philip Veritson's questions, he denied having ordered anything from Parkson's in June. In fact, on June 29th, he had been staying away in Wales. Instantly, Sir Ernest's chin was shooting pugnaciously forward.

"You deny having ordered a black beard from Parkson's on June 29th?"

"I do."

"Ah! In the event of anything happening to your brother, who will inherit Styles Court?"

The brutality of the question called a flush to Lawrence's pale face. The judge gave vent to a faint murmur of disapprobation, and the prisoner in the dock leant forward angrily.

"Heavyweather cared nothing for his client's anger."

"Answer my question, if you please."

"I suppose," said Lawrence quietly, "that I should."

"What do you mean by you 'suppose'?" Your brother has no children. You would inherit it wouldn't you?"

"Yes."

"Ah, that's better," said Heavyweather, with ferocious geniality. "And you'd inherit a good slice of money too, wouldn't you?"

"Indeed, Sir Ernest," protested the judge, "these questions are not relevant."

Sir Ernest bowed, and having shot his arrow proceeded.

"On Tuesday, the 17th July, you went, I believe, with another guest, to visit the dispensary at the Red Cross Hospital in Tadminster?"

"Yes."

"Did you—while you happened to be alone for a few seconds—unlock the poison cupboard, and examine some of the bottles?"

"I—I—may have done so."

"I put it to you that you did do so?"

"Yes."

Sir Ernest fairly shot the next question at him.

"Did you examine one bottle in particular?"

"No, I do not think so."

"Be careful, Mr. Cavendish. I am referring to a little bottle of hydrochloride of strychnine."

Lawrence was turning a sickly greenish color.

"No—I am sure I didn't."

"Then how do you account for the fact that you left the unmistakable impress of your finger-prints on it?"

The bullying manner was highly efficacious with a nervous disposition. "I—I suppose I must have taken up the bottle."

"I suppose so too! Did you abstract any of the contents of the bottle?"

"Certainly not."

"Then why did you take it up?"

"I once studied to be a doctor. Such things naturally interest me."

"Ah! So poisonous 'naturally interest' you, do they? Still, you waited to be alone before gratifying that 'interest' of yours?"

"That was pure chance. If the others had been there, I should have done just the same."

"Still, as it happens, the others were not there?"

"No, but—"

"In fact, during the whole afternoon, you were only alone for a couple of minutes, and it happened—I say, it happened—to be during those two minutes that you displayed your 'natural interest' in hydrochloride of strychnine?"

DIGESTION GOOD FOR FIRST TIME IN MANY YEARS

Another Lady Says Konjola Completely Ended Her Stomach Trouble

MISS OUIE LEWIS

"I am free of indigestion for the first time in many years and I owe all my new health to this splendid medicine, Konjola," said Miss Oue Lewis, Summit street, Xenia, Ohio.

"I was troubled regularly with indigestion. I could not find a thing to eat that didn't sour and cause large quantities of gas to form. It often felt as if a ball of fire were resting in the pit of my stomach and I suffered constantly with that ailment."

"Then I began taking Konjola and it was the only medicine that helped me. First of all, it regulated the stomach organs so that food did not cause me the intense suffering it formerly did. Now I want to tell everyone that I can eat whatever is placed before me without having gas pains or indigestion. The burning sensation, also disappeared and I am enjoying new health in every way. I owe it all to Konjola and will endorse it every chance I get."

Konjola is different than any other known remedy in this section. It contains twenty-two juices extracted from natural plants which invigorate the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels to a more healthy action. The effect of Konjola on the entire system brings amazing relief in cases of suffering that had been going on for years. At the same time many fresh and new down systems have been restored to a new state of health through this compound. Such a vast number of men and women in this city have told of their experience with this new medical product until now Konjola is the most highly indented medicine that is known in this vicinity."

Konjola is strongly recommended here in Marion at Stamp & Stamp Pharmacy, and is also being sold by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this section.—Advt.

THE HEART STORY OF A WOMAN'S AFFECTIONS
By ADRIAN GARRISON

Harry Underwood Browne into a Strained Situation.

For the fraction of a second Dicky's eyes flashed in wrath as he saw Philip Veritson seated so close to Junior and me. Then, with the self-control and easy grace which are his when he chooses to exercise them, he came forward with a smile on his face and hand outstretched in hospitable greeting.

"Good afternoon, Mr. Veritson!" he said, with the touch of formality he always uses to an older man. "I can see by the boy's eyes and the looks of the room that you've been anticipating Father Christmas a bit. Mighty good of you, I'm sure, but I'm afraid you've used up a good deal of your valuable time."

"I wondered," if Philip Veritson caught as I did the venom beneath the last words. As clearly as if Dicky had uttered them, I heard the suppressed words:

"Time which would better be used in some other way," and knew that my husband's wrath, now, utterly hatched down by his will, only needed a match to explode it.

There was nothing to be read from my employer's face, however, and his voice was as suavely untruffled as his words.

"I can think of no better use of my time than to bring a little offering to Junior," he said, and I saw Dicky's eyes go from the elaborate basket of fruit to the intricate toys and knew that mentally he was computing their cost and hotly resenting the flamboyant outlay of the great man.

"Hello!" came a deep voice from the doorway. "What is this, anyway? A flag-day bazaar? What, Mr. Veritson, are you the man responsible for so much subversion of discipline? I warn you, man, that this little lady may look mild, but she's got Foch and Pershing backed up the boards? Better be careful!"

The tension of my nerves relaxed as the tall figure of Harry Underwood came through the door, as just behind Katherine, at whom he saved his hand stiffly as he uttered his warning. There can be no serious clash of temperaments or indeed any unpleasantness when Lillian's husband is in the house.

GREAT OVATION IS GIVEN "GIRL LINDY"

Miss Earhart and Two Companions in Atlantic Flight Given Welcome

She replied: "I most certainly will. I'm too deeply entangled in aviation to leave it now."

Whalen in Charge

With bands playing, Grover Whalen, with hat and all, officially welcomed Miss Earhart and her companions as the Macon moved against the liner President Roosevelt at quarantine. Whalen was accompanied by other city dignitaries, and there were present, too, a group of friends from Boston, a reception committee from Chicago (she is a graduate of the Hyde Park High School of Chicago) and a committee of citizens from Williamsburg, Pa., the home of Haults.

Pilot Haults' wife and his mother, Mrs. Clara Haults of Williamsburg, were present, as was Miss Anna Bremer, the blue-eyed, brown-haired fiancée of Haults. The two men flanked her, greeted with hugs and kisses.

It was three weeks ago, then practically unknown, that Miss Earhart hopped off from Newfoundland in the Fokker monoplane, Friendship, and flying through blinding mist, fog and rain landed in Wales. She had flown, in the first plane that ever made a non-stop flight to Europe.

Three women had lost their lives trying to span the ocean.

Miss Earhart talked modestly, albeit freely, of her flight.

"I kept a log to hand down to my grandchildren," she said.

"Then you expect to get married?" a reporter asked.

"Every woman hopes to get married some time," she parried with a dazzling smile.

Plans Indefinite

She told the press that it "felt good" to get back home. Asked concerning her plans she said they were indefinite.

"I'm not sure just what I'll do," she said. "I still have my job as a settlement worker. I hope, and of course I will continue to be interested in aviation."

She said she bought a moth plane from Lady Heath, the English woman flyer.

"It's the same one she used on her flight to Africa," said Miss Earhart.

"I'm to sell it back to her when she comes to this country in the fall. It will be shipped to me from Southampton in a month or so and is now on exhibition there with our plane, the Friendship."

Miss Earhart said she would like to promote light plane clubs and flying for women.

"Women haven't had the chance men have had in aviation," she declared.

"For one thing they couldn't join the army and learn to fly for nothing."

"I believe that women, in the event of a war, would play an important part as aviators. However, I do not think that aviation holds promise as a career for women—not as yet."

Asked if she thought she looked like Lindbergh, she said:

"I don't know what I look like. I look I did." (Meaning reasonable Lindbergh.)

She said she had received offers from not and therefore stamped himself as a disloyal and a faker who is attempting to prove that Lindbergh was wrong and that you can fool all of the people all of the time."

PLAN CAMPAIGN

Minor and Advertisers To Confer on Program To Carry "Wet" States

Washington, July 6—A campaign program, by which Herbert Hoover hopes to carry the most Atlantic seaboard states, will be determined at a series of conferences later this week and between the Republican presidential nominee and his eastern advisers, it was announced today.

The conference will evolve a campaign strategy designed to keep New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island in the Republican column next November despite the moderate claims that Governor Al Smith will win them due to his "wetness."

The Hoover board of strategy appeared particularly hopeful of carrying New York, Smith's home

Will Fix Date

A decision also will be reached at these conferences fixing the date for notification of Mr. Hoover at his home in Palo Alto, Cal. Once this date is determined, the itinerary of Hoover's trip to the Pacific Coast will be settled.

It appeared this morning that the date would be some time between Aug. 4 and Aug. 11 with the probability that it would be one or the other, as both are Saturdays.

With the notification date fixed, the Hoover managers will arrange this trip to the Pacific Coast including a stopover at Seattle, Wash., for a conference with President Coolidge. One of his closest friends declared the secretary would not resign but would "ask to be relieved of his duties."

This phraseology would allow the secretary to remain in the cabinet should the president desire his continued services.

There were indications Hoover would depart from Washington about July 10 and reach San Francisco about July 25 or 26.

SHEN GOING ACROSS

Will Either "Fly or Swim" to America, Miss Bell Says

Plymouth, Eng., July 6—Mabel Bell, whose ambition to be the first woman to fly from America to Europe was frustrated by Miss Amelia Earhart, arrived from New York today, declaring she would fly back.

"I am either going to fly to America or swim," said the aviatix.

HEADS ASSOCIATION

Miss Earhart To Be First Woman President of Aeronautic Organization

Boston, July 6—When Miss Amelia Earhart arrives home Monday she will learn she has become president of the Boston chapter of the National Aeronautic association. The girl flyer is the first woman to head the local chapter.

Plans for a welcome to Boston's daughter on Monday were completed today. Arriving with her two flying companions of the transatlantic plane Friendship at 11:30 a. m. from New York by the air route, Miss Earhart will meet her mother and sister at East Boston airport. Following an official welcome, the party will proceed to the chamber of commerce. A reception by 2,000 social workers at an uptown hotel will be the next event on the program. Later, Governor Allen T. Fuller will receive the trio of flyers in the Hall of Flags at the statehouse and present them with state medals. A late afternoon celebration on Boston common and an evening demonstration in Boston arena will round out the day.

CHILD INJURED IN ATTACK BY DOG

Mary Covey, Bitten While Playing Near Home; Health Officer Notified

Mary Covey, eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Covey, 490 Seranton av., was severely bitten by a dog while playing near her home late yesterday. It was revealed this afternoon when Mr. Covey applied at the office of Dr. W. J. Weber, city health commissioner for treatment for the child.

Although it is not known that the dog is affected with rabies it is likely that health officers will order an examination of the animal.

According to Covey the dog jumped at his daughter and bit her on the hand and about the face after knocking the child to the ground.

Mrs. Nancy Jane McLaughlin Is Buried at Nevada

Nevada, July 6—Funeral services for Mrs. Nancy Jane McLaughlin, 74, who died at the home of her son, Frank McLaughlin, north of town Tuesday, were held from the McLaughlin home at 1 o'clock and from the Nevada Lutheran church at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

Services were conducted by Rev. Robert Oiler, pastor of the Nevada Lutheran church at Nevada. Burial was made in Nevada cemetery.

Mrs. McLaughlin was the daughter of James and Anna McLaughlin and was born Oct. 15, 1873, at Nevada.

In 1911 she was united in marriage to William James McLaughlin. The following children survive: James Edward, and Mrs. Olive Pease Sweeney, of Delton, La. Austin, of Upper Sandusky, and Frank Harris, of Nevada. Surviving also are one half-brother, Miles H. McLaughlin, of Nevada, and 13 grandchildren.

Mrs. McLaughlin was a member of the Nevada Lutheran church.

THREE-CENT DAY FOR KIDS MONDAY

Party for Safety Club Members at Crystal Lake Park

(By Just Kids Safety Club Editor)

Any member of the "Just Kids Safety Club" who have an appetite for game or cherry pop, peanuts, popcorn and waffles, can have all of these delicious, luscious eats they want at Crystal Lake Park Monday, July 10.

By special arrangement with the concession manager at the park, Fred B. Scheff, manager of the park, will be able to provide you with all of these good things the kiddies want for a mere three pennies.

Aside from saving money for the kiddies, you'll begin holding your pennies for sweet, buttered waffles that melt in your mouth, tasty peanuts, popcorn, all salted and buttered to perfection, and those big, cooling drinks of game and cherry pop.

Hurry up with your letters to Addison Bain for his analysis to see just what it is you want to play, and to have time to prepare for all the games you'll write to him about. Address them to Addison Bain, Crystal Lake Park.

Keep watching The Star for further announcements about your party, kids.

CHAMPIONSHIP DANCE MARATHON IS ENDED

Official Order Winds Up Pittsburgh Contest in 533rd Hour

Pittsburgh, July 6—"The world's championship dance marathon" marathon which has been going on for more than three weeks at Duquesne Gardens here, came to an abrupt close in its 533rd hour early today by order of the law, and seven couples are wearing the crown of the world's championship.

The marathon came to a close following an announcement made by Dr. D. E. Sable, chief surgeon of the department of public health who has been in command since the dancers started their harrowing grind, that he would not be responsible for the condition of the marathoners after 2 a. m. today. Each of the contestants, according to Dr. Sable, was in excellent physical condition at the close of the affair.

The three prizes, which totaled $2,500, were to be divided between the contestants. This averages $500 for each dancer or little less than 1 cent a hour for their 533 hour grind.

Don't think the marathons of intelligence is one-sided. You can learn a lot from the children.

EXPECT HOPPE CASE TO CLEAR MYSTERIES

Man's Plea of Guilty Likely To Solve Other Toledo Crimes, Is Prediction

that the accused man had stolen the little girl, cousin of his wife, from her bed, criminally assaulted and then strangled her on the morning of May 29, last.

Enters Plea

Bevan arose from his seat at the defense table, soon after court convened, and entered Hoppe's plea, as follows: "Your honor, I wish to enter a plea of guilty to first degree murder for this defendant."

Then, turning to Hoppe, Bevan said: "Do you realize, Hoppe, that in changing your plea to guilty you are throwing yourself upon the mercy of the court and that it may mean your being sentenced to the electric chair?" Hoppe weakly nodded assent.

After making the plea of guilty, Bevan moved the court permit an examination into Hoppe's sanity.

The agreement to enter the guilty plea was made July 4, in a conference attended by Hoppe, his wife and defense attorneys.

Bevan said today that following the conference with Hoppe he believed it would be possible to solve many equally important murders, similar to that of the St. Louis girl, in and around Toledo in the last few years and that the solution of these would strengthen his claim that Hoppe was insane.

Admits Hoax

Bevan appeared before Judge Milroy here yesterday and admitted that his plea of sickness in order to obtain a continuance of the trial made yesterday morning was a "hoax."

"Give me but a few hours more," the attorney requested of the court, "and I think I can end this case." Bevan then outlined all of his findings with regard to Hoppe.

At the conclusion of Bevan's argument, Judge Milroy observed that he considered the case "too big for any one man to handle," and summoned Common Pleas Judge James Martin and Judge James Austin, also of common pleas court, branch of domestic relations to confer with him regarding the case.

COLLEGE BOY

Final Details for Ceremony Likely To Be Made in Conference Saturday

Albany, July 6—Back at the execution chamber in New York Governor Al Smith was trying to catch up on some lost sleep and at the same time make plans for his dedication ceremony.

Final details for the dedication are expected to be completed between the governor and Senator Key Pittman, of Nevada, who will preside at the ceremony.

"I just wanted to see Senator Pittman and talk things over with him," the governor said in announcing that Pittman would be here Saturday.

The governor is understood to have expressed a desire to some of the leading state leaders that the dedication ceremony be held as speedily as possible, and for that reason it is expected that the date probably will not be postponed until after the national committee meeting in New York next Wednesday.

If tentative plans, which are said to have the approval of the governor, are carried out, the ceremony will take place on the steps of the capitol.

PLAN NEW METHOD TO GATHER PAPERS

Truck To Make Rounds of Homes for Salvation Army Collections

A new plan for collecting papers and clothes to be used locally in Salvation Army work, was launched this morning.

The material will be collected by a Columbus truck through arrangements with Adjutant James Howell, manager of social work in the Columbus district. The clothes will be turned over to the Marion group to be used in their work where the papers will be sold to pay the expenses of collecting.

The Columbus truck will make the rounds of Marion homes every two months, according to plans at the present time. The proceeds will be distributed to the needy by Captain Percy Holden and his workers. Marion housewives are asked to save their old clothes and papers for the Salvation Army call every two months. If they have any clothes and papers they want to dispose of during the interval, arrangements may be made for immediate collection by calling the local Salvation Army headquarters.

A part of the money from the sale of papers will be used in the upkeep of institutions for the homeless.

REPORT ALL KENTON BONDS TO BE PAID

City Debt Will Be Retired in About Three Years, Is Forecast

Kenton, July 6—Retirement of all bonded indebtedness of this city will be accomplished within over three years, it was revealed today by the members of the board of sinking funds trustees, who further announced the usual five mill tax will be cut to three mills on the 1929 tax duplicate.

Kenton will retire $100,000. The total amount of the city's indebtedness is $224,874.87 all of which will be wiped out by 1931.
